Course Information:	Our Thai Foot Reflexology course runs over 2 days and covers the pressure techniques, including using a thai foot stick and massaging techniques. Work is carried out from the knee to the foot.  It differs greatly to the standard reflexology with more focus on the meridian system, acupressure/acupuncture points, with massage of the leg also carried. Another difference is that the client lies down for the treatment.  The course includes the theory and history behind the reflexology treatment. Contra-indications, consultation forms, aftercare guidance is also covered. Prior to attending you are supplied with an anatomy reference manual and a pre course workbook, both of which are to be read before attending.  Thai Foot Reflexology is a "pressure therapy" that involves applying focused pressure to certain known reflex points located in the foot to cure or prevent disease. It is a complementary therapy, intended for use alongside conventional medical care and not as a replacement of it.

The therapy is based on the premise that areas on the foot correspond to areas of the body. Our nerve zones or reflex points go from the bottom of our feet to the top of our head, encompassing all vital organs on the way. These zones reflect the energy body and blockages of this energy in the body are reflected through "grits" or lumps" on the foot. Applying focused pressure to these reflex points located in the foot stimulate the corresponding area and thereby remove blockages in the energy body.

- The benefits of a thai foot reflexology session are manifold - calmness and serenity, improved circulation, increased energy and balanced emotions among many others. It is appropriate for all ages as well as for a variety of ailments. Not only soothing to sore feet, it can benefit most other body aches and pains
